Dear Clarinet Teacher:

On Friday and Saturday, March 26-27, 2010, the John M. Long School of Music at Troy University will host the Third Annual Troy University Clarinet Day. All high school clarinetists are invited to attend and participate in a clarinet choir, clinics, and a final concert. The Clarinet Day is designed to challenge high school students musically as well as give them the enjoyment of playing in a large ensemble with other clarinetists. It is our hope that students will return to your studio with great enthusiasm. I ask that you please recommend five students whom you feel would benefit the most from participating in this event. Although, all clarinetists are invited to attend!

The event will begin at 7:30 p.m. on Friday night with a Clarinet Day Faculty Recital. The next morning, registration will begin at 9:00 in the band building, John Maloy Long Hall. At 10:00 a.m., rehearsals with the full clarinet choir will begin. The day will be filled with rehearsals and clinics. The final concert will be at 5:30 p.m.

The schedule is as follows:

Friday, March 26, 2010

7:30 p.m. Clarinet Day Faculty Recital- Hawkins-Adams-Long Hall of Honor
(attendance optional, but encouraged, for participants)
